Large Sections West Crops Given Drenchings

Already Bright Prospects Are Increased, Although Some Parts Report Precipitation Is Not Sufficient
WINNIPEG, June 10.—Heavy, and opportune rain drenched large sections of western Canada crops Thursday, increasing already bright prospects of prairie farmers. Particularly heavy and of special benefit were the steady rains given in Saskatchewan, adding to the good spring moisture supply which broke years of drought in some areas. Manitoba and Alberta also received good falls.

Will Tour

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will make a speaking tour of the west this summer, it was indicated by Ottawa on Thursday night. It has not yet been decided whether the trip will be made in July or later in the summer, but the prime minister is expected to visit several western centers and address a number of meetings. He will also probably spend a holiday at his summer home on Lake Wakarusa near Prince Albert.

With wheat seeding virtually completed for a week or more in the west the precipitation was of importance and further showers were forecast in all three prairie provinces. Farmers and agricultural experts said the rains were of immense value but stressed that in many districts crops required still more moisture immediately.
HEAVY RAIN GENERAL
Heavy rain was general in most of south and central Saskatchewan during a 24-hour period and extended late today to the greater part of northern Saskatchewan. Regina reported an inch and Lemberg, 60 miles northeast, had two inches. 80 miles was the downpour at Yorkton, 125 miles northwest of Regina, that basements of a store and the city were flooded.
The precipitation was not general in the extreme southwest of Saskatchewan but good showers fell at Shaunavon, Maple Creek and other points. In the north the majority of points reported steady rain except in Turfville and Prince Albert. Roseau, 25 miles southwest of Saskatoon, recorded more than two inches and the sun on Friday.

EDMONTON'S BLANKETED BY SMOKE CLOUD

High Winds Drive Smoke Down From Northern Forest Fire Areas
High winds drove down clouds of smoke from the northern section of the province on Thursday and again on Friday. Smoke from a heavy blazes over this city and district and all but blotted out the moon on Thursday night and the sun on Friday.
Lack of moisture in the Peace River area and other sections of the province, part of the province has enabled the fires raging there to continue, despite the intensive, concentrated efforts of crews of fire-fighters to extinguish them.

WEST WHEAT FIELDS SHOW HEALTH SIGNS

WINNIPEG, June 10.—Grain fields throughout western Canada continue to show a healthy green appearance with stands rising from a few feet to 12 inches in height and are a happy augury for the summer yield. In Manitoba, central and northern Canadian Pacific Railway points to the company's agricultural department.

General conditions are good in all three provinces, although light growth and high winds have drawn heavily upon the surface moisture supply and rain, especially in the west, would be beneficial, especially in the north, central and northern Saskatchewan and Alberta.

RECRUIT PLANS TO CHANGE LINES OF ELK ISLAND PARK

OTTAWA, June 10.—Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of resources, gave notice today in the House of Commons of a resolution preliminary to a bill to abolish one of two other areas.
Mr. Crerar seeks to amend the National Parks in Alberta and west the land in the province. He also seeks to change the boundaries of the Elk Island National Park in Alberta by "adding back to the park certain described areas" and transferring the lands to the province.
The Minister's National Park is in south-central Alberta in township 12 north, 18 range, 20 west of the 100th meridian. The park is located between the Peace River and the Calgary to Medicine Hat and the other from Calgary to Empress.

Seaman To Stand Trial Of Murder

HONG KONG, June 10.—Ordinary seaman Robert Dwyer, 19 today was committed to trial on a charge of murdering leading seaman Robert Dickinson, aboard the cruiser Dunedin, off Australia May 2.

Airman Held: Wild Flying Breaks Luck

LE TOUQUE, France, June 10.—Capt. James A. Mollison, British aviator who made the first solo flight from Europe to the United States, says that stunt flying appeared to have broken his luck at the gaming table.
Mollison was arrested for "wild flying" after his 90-minute exhibition here to break his luck. Later, he returned to the casino and reported that he won $2,100 at the chemin de fer table.

Sorry For Saskatchewan's Sake Social Credit Did Not Do Better

Expressing disappointment at the results of the Saskatchewan election, Premier William Aberhart, in his first comment on the results of the voting in the neighboring province on June 8, stated here on Friday that "I am sorry for Saskatchewan's sake the Social Credit party did not do better, but I am not by any means discouraged."

ABERHART IS DISAPPOINTED OVER RESULTS

The premier declared that the Social Credit party had been "faced to face with an efficient, highly organized machine, the like of which cannot be found in any other province."

Sorry For Saskatchewan's Sake Social Credit Did Not Do Better

Premier Patterson Faces Problem Of Filling His Depleted Cabinet

CHAMBERLAIN FACES TEST IN BRITAIN

Nevertheless Mr. Chamberlain has to deal with a public opinion in Great Britain which has been stirred by Lloyd George and which has been expressed by leaders of the trade union movement. It is apparent among the electors that they are bitterly hostile over attacks on British shipping and the lack of humanitarian consideration by German and Italian aviators who are carrying out systematic air raids over despatching and piloting.

The agreement with Italy, while welcomed as an effort at European agreement, has never been popular among the electors, particularly in the midland, north of England, and in Scotland and Wales, and the continuation of the Franco outrages against which Great Britain is protesting almost only in putting the agreement under the heaviest strain.

RACE OF OPINION

It is a race now between how long the British public will stand for the Franco outrages and how long the Anglo-Italian agreement remains in being. The fact that the British foreign office sent its charge d'affaires from Barcelona to Grandville to investigate the bombings there, and then issued his report, which was a severe condemnation of General Franco, shows how worried the government is, and how anxiously it wishes to assure the British public that it is not inactive, and that it is working for the protection of British interests and shipping.

The government, however, asserts that Premier Mussolini has kept his word, and that the Germans are mainly responsible for the events in Spain. This makes it nearly impossible for Great Britain to pursue a policy of appeasement with Germany.

It is realized now that until the Spanish situation is cleared up there is little hope of any constructive diplomatic effort in Berlin. Much as Prime Minister Chamberlain would like to come to an understanding with Germany, it is impossible while the Spanish war continues.

BRITAIN ANNOYED

Great Britain is particularly annoyed with the Gobiella controlled newspaper, "Kampf" of Berlin, which is systematically trying to compare the bombing of villages on the northwest frontier in India with the Japanese bombings in China and the German and Italian bombings in Spain.

It is stated by authorities that the cases are not parallel at all, since the British only attack the villages of tribesmen who have already attacked Britishers and even then always send warnings ahead to tell the villagers to clear out before the bombings begin. The British bombings are for punitive purposes and for the protection of British frontier posts.

At the same time sections of the British press are openly stating that General Franco has no control over the bombings in Spain, which is stated, are being done by German and Italian aviators and aircraft under instructions from Italy and Berlin.

In fact, the Liberal News Chronicle says, all protests to General Franco are so much wasted money as he has nothing to say in the matter of the bombings, which are deliberately calculated to drag Italy into a European war on the side of Germany by forcing Great Britain into action.

EXPERIMENTING

The newspaper charges that the German and Italian governments are experimenting on the Spanish people with various types of bombs and machines and conducting psychological experiments on the effect of airplane bombing on civilian populations. It suggests that any reprisals by the Spanish government should be on German and Italian towns as that is where the bombings on Spanish government cities originate.

Prime Minister Chamberlain is said to clearly see what the objects are, and to be afraid that repeated bombings of British ships and defenceless towns in Spain may force action before the Spanish war can be brought to an end. This has made him very anxious, for such action would probably mean another European war on the grand scale.

PIRATE RAIDER MOCKS BRITISH AIR PROTESTS

When the pirate raider bombed the ship twice and attempted to machine-gun firing against the ship, Benham, another merchant ship was said to have been attacked and lost 12 killed and 10 wounded. Identity of the ship was not given.

At Barcelona, capitals of seven British ships protested on the British coast against insurgent attacks on British vessels and asked the protest be forwarded to foreign office.

What's This? My, My, Too Much Rain

They had no propaganda outside of their own manifesto which was distributed at the meeting by the MINORITY GOVERNMENT.

"Now I have been making a summary of the election results as far as I could learn them. We are told that the Liberal Government has at the present only 36 members instead of 50 which they had last election. That cannot possibly be said to be a real victory. Furthermore, they did not secure 30 per cent of the vote cast. Hence they may be said to have lost the election."

"Out of a total of 48,170 votes cast, only 18,812 were Liberal, or 38.8 per cent. It is true that Social Crediters did not elect more than two candidates, but they got 62,851 votes, or 13 per cent of the total vote cast. Had the people been given the transferable vote, this should have given Social Credit 10 members in the House. As it stands now, every 6,000 Liberal votes in the province have a representative whereas it takes over 21,000 Social Crediters to have a representative."

TIME TOO SHORT

"I think it is but fair to say this also—that Social Crediters found it impossible to put candidates in every constituency. The time was too short to organize to that extent so our standing was even better if we confine the numbers to the 24 rural constituencies in which we contested the riding, and there are some polls from which no report has been given. The total vote of the 14 rural constituencies in which Social Crediters had candidates was 26,567. Of these, Social Credit received 13,360, or 50 per cent. It is, therefore, evident that Social Credit made a good showing in its first attempt, even if by the system of voting, it was impossible for the representation to be adjusted by transferable ballot. I am sorry for Saskatchewan's sake that the Social Credit party did not do better, but I am not by any means discouraged."

Whether Social Credit will contest the two deferred elections in Saskatchewan, in Assiniboia and Cumberland constituencies, on July 11, is not known at present. Premier William Aberhart stated here on Friday.

The premier said that whether candidates were entered, would depend on whether the people of the constituencies concerned desired to place them in the field.

Each probably will be made in the near future.

and stage of the case, Hoover reported.

McCall said he thought at first the boy still was asleep. Hoover declared, but when he found after about 15 minutes he was dead, he took the child in his arms and ran and walked to a spot in the woods near his home with which he was well acquainted from hunting trips.

There he flung the body into a dense thicket, where it was found yesterday morning.

RETURNED TO HOME

Having disposed of the body, Hoover continued, McCall returned to his home to get the first of three ransom notes which he had written in advance.

Then, despite the death of the little victim, he took it to the shack of a negro, John Emanuel, disguised his voice, McCall tried to persuade the negro to take it to James Bailey Cash, Sr. When Emanuel became frightened and fled, McCall placed it under his door.

JAPANESE CUT RAILWAY LINE

SHANGHAI, June 10.—Japanese cut the Peking-Hankow railway for the first time south of the Yellow river today and launched an attack on Changchow against feeble resistance as their drive inland against the heart of China gained momentum.

"My brother, Carey Youle, and some farm hands rushed to the spot where they saw the ship crash. I ran out also and saw bodies lying all around the ship. The wings of the plane were smashed and everything seemed to have been torn apart."

"Some of the bodies seemed to have parachutes attached to them. They were unopened. At least one body was still in the ship."

"I was unable to tell whether the bodies were those of men or women, because the wings and fuselage were smashed and I was unable to tell the ownership of the plane. We came back to the house and telephoned the sheriff's office at Pown."

ALL IN UNIFORM

Henry Houghton, Delavan undertaker, and all victims were in uniform. The bodies were so badly mangled, he said, he was unable to determine immediately if there were "eight or nine."

Next, O. E. Hendricken, at Banfoul, and a detail had been directed to Delavan to check the identity of the wrecked ship and its crew. He said the missing army bomber came here yesterday from Denver where the officers and crew were stationed.

TWO MINISTERS NOSED OUT IN PROVINCE VOTE

McCall said he thought at first the boy still was asleep. Hoover declared, but when he found after about 15 minutes he was dead, he took the child in his arms and ran and walked to a spot in the woods near his home with which he was well acquainted from hunting trips.

FINAL RESULTS

Final results and concessions from the 47 constituencies with 50 seats in Wednesday's balloting showed: Liberals with 36 members elected; Co-operative Commonweal with 10; Social Credit 2; Union Progressive 1 and Independent 1.

At dissolution, the Liberals held 30 seats and the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation held five. The previous 33-member house was reduced to 32 through redistribution and the deferred voting will take place July 28.

ONLY TWO SECREDS

With 39 candidates in the field Social Credit succeeded in electing only two candidates and for the second election in succession Conservatives failed to win a seat. George Williams, C.C.F. leader, rejected in Wadens, again will be the leader of the official opposition. J. G. Diefenbaker, Conservative leader, who has yet to win a seat in the legislature, was beaten in Arm River.

Besides the defeat of Mr. Dunn in Metville, where a recount is considered likely, Liberals saw the defeat of Hon. J. M. Parker, speaker of the house, in Touchwood. Premier Patterson and other cabinet members were re-elected. The premier has yet to decide whether seats will be found for Mr. Dunn and Mr. Parker.

Explosion Causes $100,000 Damage

VANCOUVER, June 10.—An explosion and fire in the Bouthelle Ltd. electrical shop here today seriously burned George Dunn, 25, of nearby Marpole, B.C., and caused damage to the shop and contents estimated at $100,000.

Hospital authorities reported the injured man's condition only fair. Cause of the explosion was not determined.

inches. Saskatchewan itself had more than an inch.

In Manitoba two areas most in need of rain, the Deloraine-Souris and Lac Du Bonnet districts, received enough to fill requirements for several days. The Virden area, 50 miles west of Brandon, had a three-hour downpour but farmers said it was insufficient for crop needs. Provincial agricultural officials said the moisture would help materially but was not nearly sufficient for immediate requirements. Moderate to heavy rains were scattered through southern Alberta. The fall stopped in Calgary after an all-day rain. In the north, Edmonton reported "warm and clear" after general rains over the north Wednesday. There, too, government agriculture officials said the moisture was "not nearly enough."

REGINA, June 10.—Heavy rain fell over southern Saskatchewan Thursday. It ran precipitation figures for a 24-hour period up to an inch at Regina and close to two inches at Lemberg and flooded basements of a store and theatre at Yorkton.

Long-Distance Automatic Typesetting Apparatus Is Demonstrated

COPY TURNED TO TYPE SLUG AT 600 MILES

10,000 Words Transmitted Direct To Keyboard Of Linotype

NEW YORK, June 10.—A writer who might have been a reporter pounded out "copy" on a typewriter in the New York office of the Associated Press last night. As he removed each page, he inserted it into the jaws of a metal contraption and went back on his typewriter.

Simultaneously, in the offices of the Charlotte, N.C., Observer, 611 miles away, another machine was reproducing what the typist had written, and a linotype, untouched by human hands, was clanking out type, ready to be inserted in the newspaper's forms, at the rate of seven lines a minute.

INVENTED BY PRINTER It was the first long-distance demonstration of the automatic typesetting apparatus, called semagraph, invented by Richard L. Grier, a printer employed in the Observer's composing room for 26 years.

The demonstration consisted of transmitting 10,000 words of Associated Press copy direct to the keyboard of a linotype.

The copy was written on a standard typewriter which had been strung off a letter, also printed a "code" of from one to six digits, by means of which the words of the copy were converted into a series of seven words—the same number as appears in the width of a newspaper column.

The pages of this copy were placed in a transmitter which is a photo-electric cell picked out the coded digits representing the letters and transmitted results by radio impulses direct to the Charlotte Observer.

ARE RECOVERED There the impulses were received into letters with their associated coding code and sent to the Associated Press telegraph printer in which special type bars had been inserted.

Again there appeared typewritten copy identical with that in the New York A.P. office. This copy was placed in the semagraph unit attached to a linotype.

Another photo-electric cell went into operation, transmitting electric impulses from the type symbols direct to the operating mechanism of the linotype machine.

The matrices from which the lines of type are cast rattled down their channels in a steady stream, setting up type in Charlotte faster in fact than the copy was being written in New York.

SPEED LIMIT Johnson, who supervised the New York end of the demonstration, said: "The speed of the semagraph is limited only by the capacity of the computing machine."

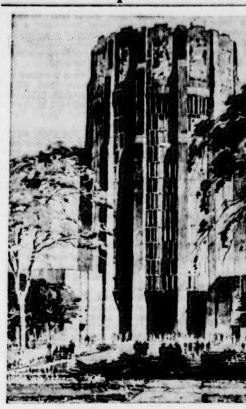

"Mechanical improvements in newspaper production," he asserted, "have always increased the number of men employed in newspaper production. Witness the introduction of the linotype machine, rotary presses, and stereotyping."

"The semagraph is just another advance in progress."

Driver Cleared CALGARY, June 10.—No blame was attached to Robert K. McManis, 36 driver of a car which knocked down and fatally injured Mrs. Clara Shapiro, 66, on May 31, at the intersection of 11th and 10th streets, when it was found that she had been hit by a car which was not insured.

Fair Temple Honors

As a tribute to national freedom of worship, the "Keystone of liberty," the New York World's Fair 1939 plans to erect the Temple of Religion shown in architect's drawing above. The Temple will not be a church, but a non-sectarian retreat where Fair visitors regardless of faith may find quiet rest, meditation and private prayer.

The Temple, located on the 150-foot lot, will be a rectangular, walled garden. The plot will be donated by the Fair and the estimated building cost—$300,000—will be raised by national public subscription.

GLoucester, Mass. June 10.—Veteran Gloucester fishermen rummaged today on the strange manner in which history sometimes repeats itself.

DOMINION TO HEAR CASE OF WHEAT POOLS

OTTAWA, June 10.—There is no legal liability on the part of the federal government for additional payment to the western wheat pools in connection with pool stocks and contracts transferred to the Canadian wheat board in December, 1928, Hon. W. D. Roper, trade minister, said Thursday in an interview.

In Regina Wednesday J. H. Weston, president of the Saskatchewan wheat pool, said the government would be asked for an additional settlement in the 1938 transfer.

"There is nothing new in that request," said Mr. Roper. "They were given some time ago and got no for an answer. They have been no change in the attitude but will listen attentively to their case if they come down again after the season. There is no legal liability on our part."

QUEBEC GRITS OPEN TWO-DAY PARTY PARLEY

QUEBEC, June 10.—Liberal party supporters from all corners of the province gathered here last night for a two-day party convention, starting today, during which a new provincial program will be outlined and a platform to direct it will be chosen.

Convention organizers estimated more than 800, including 40 representatives of Liberal women's groups in Quebec, would attend the meetings.

Justice minister Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Hon. C. G. Power, minister of pensions and national health, Hon. P. J. A. Caron, works minister, and Hon. Fernand Rinfret, secretary of state, will attend as delegates.

Attendance of the women delegates on the same footing as the menfolk will be a new departure in provincial politics.

Army Flier Killed

72 PER CENT. OF SEATS GO TO LIBERALS

Popular Vote Figures In Saskatchewan Fall Short Of Record

REGINA, June 10.—With approximately 153 electing polls still reported, a total of 421,705 ballots in the Saskatchewan general election and the Liberals won 72 per cent of the seats at the stake with 68.5 per cent of the vote cast.

Tabulation of returns last night disclosed the vote was lighter than the record of 428,000 ballots cast in the 1934 election when the Liberals defeated the Anderson co-operative government. Even with the outgoing poll reporting, the 1938 figure is not expected to exceed the 1934 record.

POPULAR VOTE Here is the popular vote in the 47 constituencies that elected 50 members compared with the 1934 Party—

Party—	1934	1938
Liberals	193,212	296,191
Conservatives	52,102	114,972
C.C.F.	78,971	103,582
Social Credit	62,891	—
Others	34,943	4,134
Totals	421,705	428,880

Here is the comparative percentages of the vote: Party—

Liberals	69	68
Conservatives	12	27
C.C.F.	18	24
Social Credit	15	—
Others	8	1
Totals	100	100

71 PER CENT SEATS With 68 per cent of the vote, the Liberals by winning 36 seats won 72 per cent of the seats at stake. The C.C.F. with 18 per cent of the vote, won 10 to 20 per cent of the seats at stake, while Social Credit, with 15 per cent of the vote, elected two members.

In a total of 24,943 ballots, 12,000 were rejected. Numerous candidates were included the votes cast for the two Independent Liberal candidates, Labor-Progressive, etc., candidates.

Besides the 125 missing polls, voting has yet to take place in two constituencies: Athabasca, and to the polls July 28.

Large - Scale Deceit Declared Disaster Forerunner

IMPORTANCE OF PROMISE SAID FADING

Too Much Talk Of Rights, Not Enough Of Responsibility, Seen

LONDON, Ont., June 10.—Large scale deceit will bring disaster to any country, Premier Angus L. Macdonald of N. S. Scotia told the 6th annual meeting of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association last night.

"In these days and in some places we have got away from the old idea of the importance of a promise," Macdonald said. "The spoken word and even sometimes the letter of the bond is forgotten conveniently by the promiser, but I believe that nothing but moral and economic chaos can come to a country where deceit of this sort is practiced.

STAND AS ROCK

"The record of Canadian insurance companies will, I hope, stand as a solid rock of truth and honesty, an example and an inspiration to all men of good will and honor."

There has been too much talk of rights and not enough of responsibility, Mr. Macdonald said. "I venture to say that if the press of this country is to remain free it must show that it is alive to its responsibility, that it prime duty is to give facts, to enlighten and inform."

HONESTY OF PRESS

"If it is concerned merely with sensational headlines and sensational stories, it is lacking in the true conception of the duty and dignity of the press. Nothing can give more strength to a democracy than an honest and well-informed press. Nothing can be of greater menace to democracy than an unfair and unenlightened press."

A devaluation in the field of home is not to be contemplated, Mr. Macdonald said.

"If the sense of responsibility is destroyed, if the regard for obligations becomes lessened, if the worth of the pledged word is disregarded, it is not too much to say that economic chaos would result in this country and economic ruin would follow for millions of our people."

Bawl Street Journal Ribs Roosevelt, Ford And Even Snow White

NEW YORK, June 10.—Cold Wall Street believers their eyes? Could it be true? That picture on the front page of the Wall Street Journal showing Franklin D. Roosevelt standing in the tower of his car, riding down Wall Street by Morgan's and the sub-treasury building amidst a shower of ticker tape, passing thousands of persons cheering with arms outstretched in the East side?

But no, it was the annual edition of the Bawl Street Journal, the jokester, published by the Bond club of New York in connection with its annual issuing today.

It wasn't a picture, just a cartoon. Over and over was the caption: "It can't be true, it can't be true."

One of the central themes was a "take-off" on Snow White and the seven dwarfs. Snow White was labelled "national property," singing to herself "Some day my prince will come." And from far off comes the Prince

Legislation For Rails Expected To Be Left Out

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Dean H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, said Thursday it appeared unlikely Congress would enact legislation this session to bring United States railroads.

No Business Of The Public?

From Ottawa comes word that the public is not to be informed as to "details relating to re-armament of the railways between specific points, if the railways were unified". For the reason that "Communities which learned now that they might eventually be slated for abandonment or other form of readjustment would resent the position in which it was contemplated to place them".

That seems very likely. Wherefore, parliament is being asked to put a unification scheme through on the quiet. Communities which later on found they were left out in the wilderness by the "abandonment" of railway services, or subjected to some other form of damaging "readjustment" could then "resent the position" in vain. They would be in the presence of a accomplished fact, and could like it or not as they chose.

The implication of course is that it isn't any of the public's business whether they get railway service or don't get it, or what kind of service the railways give to them. As Commodore Vanderbilt used to put it, in plain language, "The public be damned!"

State-Paid Doctors

Twenty villages in what has been the drought area of Alberta, which used to have resident doctors, now have none. Some of these communities have been without doctors' services for five years. What medical treatment the residents have been able to get was given by nurses. This information was compiled in a survey made by the Alberta College of Physicians and Surgeons. The College will recommend that the Provincial Government adopt some plan to provide medical service in these and similarly situated areas. The public will readily endorse that proposal and will supply the tax-money to pay salaries to resident doctors.

Even those who suspect a general state-medical system might run to seed cannot reasonably object to state-support for doctors in such circumstances. There isn't any other way to supply the need, and it is surely as important to provide treatment for sick people as to provide seed grain for a farmer whose crops failed.

The Dominion pays doctors to live in remote northern points to look after the traders and Indians and has done so for years. The province should do as much for people in a district where a local doctor cannot make a living on his own.

More Trees Needed

Fires in northern Alberta have been turning merchantable timber into ashes and sweeping away non-merchantable areas of trees and brush which served the useful purpose of stopping winds and preventing soil-eroding on cultivated land. Whether the timber of commercial value thus destroyed was worth more than the shelter wind up is an open question. The destruction of either represents a definite loss of tremendous proportions.

There are none too many trees in central and northern Alberta. There are too few. A good many of them are planted in wrong places, and must be destroyed to permit farming to be done. But it is a mistake to carry-clearing operations too far, as anyone may see who drives along a country road in one of the older settled farming districts around Edmonton during a dry and windy season.

Nature supplied most quarter-sections in this part of Alberta with ready-made shelter. It is a cardinal mistake in clearing land to not leave a fringe of trees and brush around the borders, as a good many farmers now know to their sorrow. It is equally a mistake, in open country, to not plant shelter-belts at least along the west, north and east sides of a quarter-section farm.

Experts tell us even this is not enough; that to secure maximum protection there should be belts of trees at intervals of 16 to 20 rods, so placed as to check prevailing winds and shelter the strips of cultivated land between. Better, especially for soil-eroding, when the wind is checked, evaporation is slowed down and moisture is preserved for crop production.

A shelter-belt two rods wide around three sides of a quarter-section occupies only six acres of land. Seven transverse belts of the same width would occupy 14 acres. Year in and year out, the remaining 140 acres would produce better crops, and thus pay for the 20 acres "wasted" in shelter-belts.

A Big Day's "Bag"

France's insurgent airmen scored what is said to be their greatest success of the kind during the whole course of the war when five of them soared over Granoliers the other day, dropped twenty bombs, and netted upwards of a thousand casualties, women and children outnumbering the mangled males five to one.

Considering some of their former exploits it may be doubted that insurgent airmen would be killed and wounded so many civilians in a day, but surely they never "bagged" so many with so few bombs and at so small an expense of time, gasoline and explosives. No doubt in that, as in other branches of human activity, experience makes for proficiency.

It is claimed by city authorities there was no military objective for the raid, that no attempt was made to bomb the railway, forts or troop concentrations. This may be exaggeration. It is to be hoped it is. But there is only too much reason to suspect it is the truth. The world has long since dismissed the supposition that civilians are killed in Spain only because bombs aimed at military targets have missed. There have been too many instances in which the slaughter was undoubtedly deliberate.

What seems highly probable is that these record-making killers were some of Mussolini's experts who had such "good sport" machine-gunning the Abyssinians a couple of years ago. It is doubtful that insurgent Spaniards could be so brutal to their own countrymen and women.

Editorial Notes

Sir John Macdonald is credited with having said an election is like a horse race. Maybe what he meant was a horse race is like an election.

Japan, third member of the Trinity of Threat, is a long way from its allies, but what is going on at Canton and in northern Spain shows their ideals are close enough.

The Government of Great Britain is reported ready to propose an international investigation into air attacks on Spanish civilians, provided Germany and Italy will co-operate. If they refuse to co-operate they will not need to explain why.

From the Files of The Edmonton Bulletin

The C.P.R. has had a remarkable run in London, thirty miles of line being applied for in one day, ten times the amount applied for in any other day.

An order-in-council has been passed transferring a number of old trails in the Territories to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council for the use of the public. Among them is the trail from Edmonton to Calgary.

The Grandees of Toronto have been given permission to wear the word Batsche on their collars.

The horse thieves Slim Jim, Alex Perkins, Al McLeary and Bruno-Arena have been sentenced to five years in penitentiary by Judge McLeod, sitting at Maple Creek.

A thousand families are homeless in Hull and Quebec and a million have been destroyed by fire. The Notre Dame church and convent and four hundred houses were destroyed.

The worst storm in memory struck Ottawa at noon today. The Protestant hospital was struck by lightning, buildings were blown down and one man was killed. Montreal also received heavy storm damage.

Current Comment

Why Not Put It To Work?

The Transcontinental Railway cost the people of Canada a fabulous sum of money running into hundreds of millions of dollars. At the very time that report was coming out of Ottawa a member of the Rowell Commission was stating at Fredericton that:

He felt the Transcontinental scheme was an attempt to deal with the failure of the earlier plan to bring traffic from the West to the Maritime.

As, of course, it was. But despite the enormous cost of that railway to the taxpayers of Canada, that railway never has been put to the national work which it was constructed.

It has been neglected and ignored all through the post-war years.

As now, a proposal for its complete abandonment is advanced at the Federal Capital.

Perhaps that is the way to run the business of the country. Perhaps it is a "good business" to spend colossal sums of public money on public works and facilities of this kind—and then scrap them completely. But if it is a "good business" to do things of this kind, then the people of Canada will understand the wide disparity between conduct of business in the name of the public and conduct of business as private enterprise.—Hollis Herald.

This Spirit Built Canada

There is so much romance and courage and determination and initiative behind the movement of the Peace River people that they seem to have a new spirit of initiative and courage behind them.

For this is the spirit that built Canada. It is the spirit of an empire of making it a new life and essence of our Canadian march.

Now, mind you, when the Peace River folk have conceived this idea they knew they had a job ahead of them.

There was no money for the road. No surveying had been made. No money was available. All the governments concerned said frankly that they were crazy.

But with their eyes on the ocean port of Vancouver—their eyes on the port they just simply started to work on it.

Farmers got out with their trucks and animals and picks. Farmers got out with their kitchen and came along to cook for them.

And today the "crazy idea" is coming true. Already there is a road from the Peace River to the Peace River Highway to Stomp Lake, for the 32 of the 150 miles required to link the Peace River country with British Columbia's highway system.

Public sentiment has been aroused in Vancouver to the point of lending some financial aid.

And that road is going to be built—every last foot of it.

And that is no power on this earth that can stop the progress of a man who rolls up his sleeves, slips on his hands and goes out and does what his neighbor says is impossible.

This road is a part of a big road. It is a road that will bring the Peace River farmer within driving distance of a great commercial center and a great source of power. The people will profit by it. Vancouver people will profit by it.

But even the physical value of this road, great as it is, is very much secondary in importance to the psychological value of the act itself.

The performance of these people reveals and represents a spirit that has already been valuable to Canada than all the highways in the world.

For it establishes the fact that we still have some pioneers in Canada. We still have enterprise. We still have the unbeatable will of men who will do what they set their minds to do.

These things are worth something. These things have been the prime factors in every movement that has opened up and developed this country.

Your Health

Dr. McGo's menu suggested for the week beginning Sunday, June 12, 1938.

SUNDAY—Breakfast: Cantaloup, all deiced. Lunch: Buttered summer squash; baked ground beef; celery. Dinner: Baked chicken with Melba toast dressing; apple; string beans; lettuce and tomato salad; "Berry Ice Cream".

MONDAY—Breakfast: One kind of fresh fruit, all deiced; glass of milk. Lunch: Combination salad of tomatoes, celery and raw spinach. Dinner: Salisbury steak; cooked celery; small green peas; salad of ripe olives, tomatoes, and lettuce.

TUESDAY—Breakfast: Poached eggs in cream, served on Melba toast; steamed fish. Lunch: Baked potato; cooked carrots and turnips; salad of lettuce, parsley, and watercress. Dinner: Meat loaf; summer squash; salad of sliced cucumbers with grated raw carrots; baked apple.

WEDNESDAY—Breakfast: Whole-wheat muffins; steamed apricots. Lunch: Fruit (all deiced) of one kind only. Dinner: Cream of Spinach soup; boiled fresh beef tongue; string beans; celery and ripe olives; dish of berries.

THURSDAY—Breakfast: Coddled eggs. Melba toast; applesauce. Lunch: Sweet corn; cooked greens; salad of cold sliced beef. Dinner: Broiled steak; beet; asparagus salad; sliced pineapple.

FRIDAY—Breakfast: Fried bacon; Melba toast; steamed apricots. Lunch: Salad of lettuce, tomatoes, cucumbers, and small green peas. Dinner: Baked sea bass; cooked greens; summer squash; sliced tomatoes; gelatin.

SATURDAY—Breakfast: Glass of orange juice 30 minutes before breakfast; baked eggs; toasted cereal; glass of milk. Lunch: Cooked peaches; glass of milk if desired. Dinner: Cold roast beef; carrot; cauliflower with meat; asparagus; celery.

"Berry Ice Cream: Measure into a dish half the contents of an envelope of plain ice cream and add two or three tablespoons of cold water to soften. Wash and drain a box of any kind of berries, such as raspberries, strawberries, blackberries, etc., crush thoroughly and mix with a half pint of cream. Into another bowl pour a pint of whole milk into which mix a half cup of sugar, and add the berry mixture. Next, add the gelatin which has been dissolved over hot water. Stir all together, pour into freezer and freeze until the desired consistency. The amount makes one quart. Other fruits may be used in place of the berries, such as figs, peaches, or pineapple, the proportion of fruit used varying with the kind of fruit used.

Questions and Answers

QUESTION—Mr. Tobias L. writes: "After having come to the conclusion that I was getting my foot to digest right I went to two of the best doctors here in town and they told me that most of the time stomach trouble is caused by hydrochloric acid. They both said to take the acid but when I do so I have severe neuralgia-like pains all over my body. These pains continue for two days after I stop taking the acid. Do you think the pains are caused by the hydrochloric acid?"

ANSWER: A reaction such as you describe is unknown in my experience. Usually, if the patient is going to have any after effect at all, it will only be when the whole stomach is affected by the burning and the reaction then takes the form of a burning pain. If the stomach is the seat of marked inflammation the same burning pain may be generalized pains such as you describe are usually the result of neuritis. Under the circumstances, the best plan is to return to one of the physicians whom you have already consulted and to request further advice.

QUESTION—Mrs. Pearl S. states: "I owe you a letter of thanks for the wonderful results I obtained in getting relief from hay fever after writing to you. I would never have believed that a few diet suggestions could make such a difference in my life. Now I am happy and healthy for my husband. He has been having 12 to 14 hours a day and has had one bull right after the other. The fatigue has anything to do with the answer?"

ANSWER: It is my opinion that any condition inducing nervousness will serve as a predisposing cause of hay fever. Such condition can be produced by marked fatigue.

They have a right to expect the latter. They have a right to demand it.

Canada has not built on wealth and investments and legislation.

It was built on the indomitable power of men and women who refused to let their country be a slave to the world.

The Montpark incident is a saga in itself. It is also a symbol of this whole great spirit of Canada.

It contains the elements that make nations great.

It is the re-encounter in miniature of the spirit that put together what we like to believe is the richest, most favored and finest country on earth.

It is the spirit that built Canada and the spirit that can make Canada the greatest nation on the face of the earth.—Vancouver Sun.

Glasses Can Keep You Young

By Jackson Bros., Optometrist

Exhaustion is one of the quickest and surest causes of wrinkles. Nothing makes you look so pitifully old as these crows, nervous little lines on your lids, that draw down on the inner corners of the eyes, then squinting lines at the corners of the mouth. These wrinkles tell you that your face is growing old. They tell you that your eyes are straining to see more than they can. Glasses if you need them, can prevent these wrinkles.

The modern Optometrist on prescribing glasses, studies the colour of your face and selects for you the shade of glass and mounting that is most becoming to you.

First, the eyes. The optometrist uses a special test to see how your eyes are used every day except Sundays and Holidays and then prescribes the most effective glasses to give you a thorough eyestrain examination.

To reliable people we extend our open payment plan, enabling them to cover their glasses while paying for them.

The Inquiring Reporter

What is your opinion of the appeal of the Red Cross Club to be patriotic and to fly flags on such occasions as the King's birthday?

The city celebrated the birthday of His Majesty King George VI.
At the same time we saw on poles and other fixtures.

The inquiring reporter decided to find out just how some residents felt and he found the following reactions to the appeal for a display of patriotism.

HENRY K. O'LEARY, business man Display of flags on such occasions as the King's birthday is most commendable. There are enough opportunities for a manifestation of patriotism. In the last few years when disaster has arisen in other climes, the throng of British tank and we are sure that the flag in the minds of the people, generation of community of patriotism, will bear fruit.

JAMES FAIRFIELD, returned soldier. Well, an old soldier like me, I like to hear the bands playing and see the flags flying. And anyone who fought for King and Country likes to see His Majesty honoured by such recognition. We are all proud of our King and Country and the more so the more we see the flag flying.

Therefore, I heartily endorse the action of the Red Cross Club in promoting a greater display of flags on such days as this.

ORVILLE PALMER, typographer and former Mayor. A little display of patriotism would help us all. I suppose each and every person living here is sufficiently proud of the country and His Majesty and all they stand for.
The flag flying on a holiday is the slight effect of a display of flag. On Empire Day there was a lot of flag and I heartily commend any effort to encourage such a display.

THOMAS SMITHSON, clerk
A good idea. A little color helps us all. Flags flying on a holiday add to the impressiveness of the day. I am sure that the flag flying on a holiday is a tribute that all would want to pay. To raise the flag and take it down is a little effort. We see all too little effort in this country and I hope the Red Cross Club will continue its good work.

Cardinals vs. Columbia Club.

By JACK DEARIN

RUNS, hits and errors were a dime a dozen in woosy senior baseball strife at Renfrew Park last night, the final result giving Belmonts an 11-3 decision over Army & Navy Cardinals.

The hitting was potent at times. The runs simply streamed across home plate while the errors, especially in the Cardinal inner garden, warranted a good crying bawl.

Undoubtedly the game was the poorest played one of the season. Numerous errors were a surprise, but the best of them were the Cardinals' errors. The Cardinals' errors were the best of the season. The Cardinals' errors were the best of the season.

OPENED UP EARLY

The hitting broke loose right from the start. Belmonts took the first trip to the batting box and found Morgan's elbowing for five hits, combined with two errors, netted six runs.

In their half of the first frame, Cardinals replied weakly for one run, and then came within a run of equalling in the second when they staged a four-run rally.

After the second inning Belmonts broke loose for seven runs in the fourth and sixth innings. Cardinals replying with single hits in the sixth and seventh.

Despite all the hitting and the early lead of the Belmonts, the game has a straggling end as Cardinals crawled up within two runs of tying the score. A close call in the eighth halted a promising rally. Cards tried hard to push across runners in the ninth but the two "red" runs "died" on bases as the attack fizzled out.

SEVEN TO INFIED

After that six-run blast in the first inning, Morgan hung right in the game. He twirled fairly steady for the remainder of the game, but his combined pitching and the Cardinal attack could not offset the Cardinals errors. Seven of the nine errors were made by infielders. Wimer and Kokura had three each while Williams had two.

Lefty Hays started the game for the Belmonts, but after being touched for three runs and five hits in the first frame, he was replaced by Morgan.
